

U.S. Bombers Knock Out Missiles

SAIGON (AP) — American bombers flew more heavy raids Tuesday against North Vietnam, striking at four major rail yards north of Hanoi and blasting a missile site inside a soccer stadium midway between Hanoi and Haiphong.

Pilots claimed their rockets and 750-pound bombs blew up three of the Soviet-made surface-to-air missiles and their launchers in the Hai Duong soccer stadium.

"We really nailed them good," reported Lt. Cmdr. Gene Lund, 33, of Bitoli, Miss., one of the carrier pilots who attacked the stadium and reported orange fire and smoke billowing from the missile site.

Navy, Air Force and Marine pilots flew 133 missions—about 400 individual strike sorties—over North Vietnam Tuesday and the raids cost one U.S. plane, the U.S. Command reported.

An Air Force F4 Phantom jet was downed by ground fire and was the 612th U.S. combat plane reported lost over North Vietnam. The two fliers were rescued by helicopter.

Hanoi's official news agency claimed four American planes were shot down Tuesday.

The ground war in South Vietnam slackened once again and only small, scattered skirmishes were reported. The South Vietnamese prepared to observe "National Shame Day" Thursday, the 13th anniversary of the 1954 Geneva accords which divided North and South Vietnam.

North Vietnamese artillerymen fired 10 104mm rockets at a U.S. Marine amphibious tractor battalion 10 miles below the demilitarized zone and wounded eight Marines. There was no word whether the rockets hit any of the amphibious tractors, which carry 105mm howitzers.

Units of the U.S. Army's Task Force Oregon, made up of elements of the 101st Airborne Division, the 25th Infantry Division and the 196th Light Infantry Brigade, reported killing 42 Communist troops in several small contacts Tuesday in the northern part of the country.

In the strikes against the soccer stadium, Navy fliers returned after the first raid for a second attack late in the day to finish off the SAM site.

Other Navy bombers attacked an oil storage depot only 10 miles northwest of the center of Haiphong. Pilots reported their 1,000- and 2,000-pound bombs left smoke billowing up to 7,000 feet.

U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers flew in from bases in Thailand to range up and down the main rail lines running northeast and northwest of Hanoi to Communist China.

For the second straight day, F105 Thunderchiefs pounded the Kep railroad yard 38 miles northeast of Hanoi within a mile of the MIG airbase at Kep.

Willhite at Kiwanis

The Rev. Bob Willhite, pastor of Assembly of God church, was guest speaker before Hope Kiwanis club Tuesday and discussed his recent trip to the Middle East and the Holy Land.

He made an impressive talk in describing the various countries, their history, customs, the people and their attitudes and many other factors. The program was arranged by Tom Purvis. Guests included Lloyd Thrash of Dallas, Bill Couzyn of Honolulu, Bob Trout of Gordon and Dick Moore, formerly of Texarkana, now connected with a local insurance agency.

Fired Camp Was Known Hazard

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A state prison camp where 37 convicts died in a fire was a known fire hazard that was scheduled to be phased out of operation, Florida's Cabinet learned Tuesday.

Doyle Conner, state agriculture commissioner and chairman of the Cabinet's subcommittee on corrections, said state agents "knew" the World War II type wooden barracks at Road Camp 12, near Jay, were hazardous because of their flammable nature. Conner said the Jay camp was one of 13 with wooden barracks that the state has been removing from the prison system.

"We've been phasing out two to three each year," he said. "Obviously this should be accelerated and many of us regret we did not do it sooner."

In Milton, a coroner's jury ruled the Sunday night fire was a "criminal act of arson." It said the fire was started by three prisoners—Thomas E. Ard, 28, of Pensacola; Earl F. Hoffman, 41, of Tallahassee; and Joseph Earl Wynder, 21, of Marianna. All died in the flames.

Truck Will Sit Out Huge Fine

DIXON, Ill. (AP) — Unless a Leonidas, Mich., truck driver changes his mind about paying a fine of $1,584, he may spend 10½ months in the Lee County Jail.

Almon B. Foster was fined Tuesday by Magistrate Morey Pires for having a load 15,840 pounds overweight. An overweight fine generally is set at 10 cents a pound.

Monsoons Return to Dry India

BODHIGAYA, India (AP) — Steady monsoon rains returned to Bihar State Monday for the first time in three years, but famine will continue in the area at least until the harvest late this year.

Emergency food programs for millions of persons are expected to continue into December. Although government sources have not confirmed any starvation deaths, relief workers estimate 10,000 such deaths in Bihar, eastern Uttar Pradesh, northern Madhya Pradesh and two areas of West Bengal.

Personal Views 'Out' for Marshall

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall, nominee for the Supreme Court bench, declares he is bitterly opposed to "a judge using his own proclivities to decide a lawsuit."

Marshall told the Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday that a judge should not inject into decisions "his personal idea that this is good or this is fair."

His statements came after two Southern senators on the panel continued their criticism of the Supreme Court as the committee questioned Marshall for the third day on his nomination.

Marshall, former counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, later a federal judge and now U.S. solicitor general, would become the first Negro member of the high court if confirmed by the Senate. He was nominated June 13 by President Johnson to succeed retired Justice Tom C. Clark.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., a former State Supreme Court justice, said the Supreme Court is reversing prior decisions so readily that the Constitution itself is threatened.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., agreed with Ervin and said the frequent reversal of earlier decisions is "bringing chaos and confusion to our form of justice."

Joint Paper Operation Is Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Press critic Ben H. Bagdikian said today an antitrust exemption for joint commercial operation of failing newspapers would not preserve their editorial independence but "camouflage its loss."

"We need more papers in this country and we need more editorial independence," Bagdikian said in testimony prepared for the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee.

Sponsors of the antitrust exemption contend commercial consolidation would produce editorial competition rather than "out-of-business" newspapers.

Bagdikian, Washington-based author of numerous articles, and John J. Flynn, a law professor at the University of Utah, disagreed with the sponsors. Flynn said a joint operating agreement between the Deseret News and the Salt Lake Tribune led to division of the market and ended advertising and news competition.

Newspapers in 22 cities have joint operating agreements, many covering advertising and circulation departments as well as printing facilities.

The Justice Department has challenged joint business operations involving the Tucson, (Ariz.) Citizen and the Arizona Star of Tucson. The exemption is designed to overrule that test-case court challenge.

Interracial Marriage in Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Herman McDaniel, a Negro, and his white fiancée plan to be married Friday in the first recorded interracial marriage in Tennessee.

The way was cleared for the marriage Tuesday when the state attorney general's office ruled that a county court clerk has no authority to deny a license to a racially mixed couple if they have otherwise complied with the law.

McDaniel, 29, and Joyce Prescott, 34, were denied a marriage license last Thursday by the probate master in the office of the Davidson County court clerk.

Spiller Campbell, the probate master, cited Tennessee's anti-miscegenation law and the state constitution's prohibition on interracial marriages.

Campbell said at the time, "We have to be bound by the existing law until it is declared invalid."

But Milton Rice, an assistant state attorney general, wrote to County Court Clerk R. E. Worrell that a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision which overturned a similar Virginia statute invalidated Tennessee's bans against such marriages.

Attorney David Vincent said the couple plan to apply again Friday for the license and be married in a quiet ceremony at the Nashville Metropolitan Courthouse.

Boys Spend Four Days in Capsule

SOUTH LYON, Mich. (AP) — Two dirty but happy 11-year-old boys emerged Tuesday after four days in a wooden earth-bound "space capsule."

The junior astronauts, Dale Kern and David Boatman, had the spacecraft moored in the backyard of the Kern home. Mrs. Kelvin Kern, Dale's mother, kept the boys supplied with food and things seemed much like real space exploration—except that every eight hours each boy got a 10-minute toilet break.

Bob Kennedy Speaks Up for Newsman

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Newsman Walter Sheridan, accused by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison of trying to thwart his John F. Kennedy assassination inquiry, has been strongly defended by the brother of the slain president.

Sheridan, 41, of Washington, an investigative reporter for the National Broadcasting Co., goes before the Orleans Parish grand jury today.

The jury has been hearing much of Garrison's case. The district attorney contends a plot was hatched in New Orleans to assassinate President Kennedy, who was killed in Dallas, Tex., Nov. 22, 1963.

Sheridan, a former FBI agent, voluntarily returned here and surrendered after Garrison filed charges against him 10 days ago, accusing him of trying to bribe a witness in the assassination probe into changing his story.

As Sheridan appeared here, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., issued a statement noting that Sheridan had worked with both himself and President Kennedy.

"I have been fortunate to know and work with Walter Sheridan for many years," said Sen. Kennedy. "Like all those who have known him and his work, I have the utmost confidence in his integrity, both personal and professional."

"This view was shared by President Kennedy himself with whom Mr. Sheridan was associated for many years in a relationship of utmost trust, confidence and affection."

It was the first comment of any nature concerning the Garrison probe by an immediate member of the Kennedy family.

Downed Yank Pilot Lifted to Safety by Friendly Helicopter

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP)—Lt. Cmdr. Demetrio Anthony Verich dodged two flaming SAM missiles and banked toward the North Vietnamese rail yard that was his target. A third missile thundered into his Crusader jet's exhaust and blew the tail off.

The plane flipped over Monday and dove for the ground 5,000 feet below at 400 miles an hour.

The stocky 35-year-old bachelor from Laona, Wis., popped his ejection seat and the chute opened when he was about 1,000 feet up. Ground fire zipped about him and he drifted toward the billowing fireball from his own crashed jet.

Verich had been shot down just a year ago on his first tour in Vietnam with the carrier Oriskany. That time he was picked up just off the coast with Red mortar shells dropping into the water all around him. This time the coast was 40 miles away and his luck seemed to have run out.

After a night hiding out on a North Vietnamese hillside, a helicopter lifted the pilot to safety Monday with Communist fire zipping around him while other pilots drove off three Communist MIG21s.

Verich told a news conference in Saigon today that he landed on a steep hillside covered with brush, tangled trees and vines that rose 30 feet overhead. A few hundred yards downhill he could hear firing and North Vietnamese calling to each other.

"I lay low and covered myself up with branches," he said.

He tried to move about midnight to a safer area — he could hear voices about 100 yards away. But the ground was so steep he feared he would fall in the darkness and perhaps break a leg. He covered himself up again after moving only 20 feet.

At dawn the American planes returned, first the jets, then the slower propeller-driven Skyraiders and finally a noisy helicopter.

The Red gunners opened up on the planes and the helicopter. Flying his first rescue mission, tall, lean helicopter pilot Neil Sparks, a Navy lieutenant from Tulsa, Okla., was welcomed to the area by a shell that blew into the cabin 18 inches from his feet. It wrecked some of his controls and his radio.

While other U.S. fliers drove off three MIG21s, Sparks fanned back and forth over the mountainous area, unable to spot Verich. Finally he neared the downed pilot and Verich fired a rescue flare up through the brush.

The hill was so steep the helicopter's blades were brushing the trees on one side as it hovered over Verich about 100 feet below. A long cable was lowered to him.

Verich tried to grab the cable. The first time it slipped out of his hands and helicopter crewmen brought it up empty. The second time, said Verich, "I grabbed it and hung on for dear life."

While the 100 feet of cable was slowly pulled in, the helicopter hovered almost motionless. Bullets zipped by. The helicopter shuddered from another hit, but it wasn't serious.

When Verich finally clawed his way into the cabin, he grabbed a crewman and hugged him.

"I guess he thought I was going to kiss him," said the pilot.

Then, with machineguns spraying and jets flying cover, the helicopter "got the hell out of there."

It was Verich's second mission of this cruise with the Oriskany. He completed 75 on his previous tour. After two weeks leave in Australia, he will return to the carrier.

Blytheville to End Segregation

BLYTHERVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A proposed expansion program, which will be placed before the voters here in September, includes the elimination of the all-Negro Harrison High School.

The $1 million program has been proposed by the Blytheville School Board. A vocational-technical wing is to be added to the Blytheville High School; another junior high school is to be constructed and classrooms are to be added to certain elementary schools if the program is adopted.

Elimination of Harrison High School would make the school district eligible for additional federal funds through compliance with the demands of the Office of Education.

Arabs Fail to Get New Soviet Aid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
President Houari Boumedienne of Algeria and Abdel Rahman Aref of Iraq, the latest Arab pilgrims to Moscow, apparently have failed to win Soviet backing for new military action soon against Israel.

A communique issued in Moscow after Boumedienne and Aref flew back to Cairo Tuesday said they exchanged opinions with Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin on how to bring about an Israeli withdrawal from Arab land seized in the June war. The absence of any claim of agreement strongly suggested the Arabs and Soviets disagreed on how to do it.

The most militant Arab voices were represented by Boumedienne, who has not accepted the U.N. cease-fire and who has been urging Palestinian Arabs to wage guerrilla warfare against Israel. Aref is considered a moderate.

Boumedienne and Aref flew to Moscow after talks in Cairo with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Syrian President Nouruddin Atassi and Sudanese President Ismail El Azhari.

The Russians sent a letter Tuesday to the U.N. Security Council president charging Israel with creating a situation in the Suez Canal area "that could develop into a wider military conflict."

The letter, which followed an Israeli claim that it has the right to patrol the canal by boat, was considered an indication that the Soviets were abandoning their attempt to get a resolution demanding Israeli withdrawal through the emergency U.N. General Assembly. Apparently the Soviets were preparing to take their case back to the Security Council.

The assembly, which was called by the Soviet Union, has frustrated Russian hopes for a condemnation of Israel as the aggressor in the June war and a demand that Israel take its troops off Arab soil. The assembly reconvenes Thursday after a three-day recess and may wind up the special session before the end of the week.

President Wilson was the first U.S. president to visit Europe. He went there in December of 1918.

ATTENDED LUNCHEON

Miss Jennifer Cox of Hope, bride-elect of Van Cheney, Jr., of Reedsville, Georgia, was complimented Tuesday at a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Weldon Glass of Texarkana. Mrs. W. R. Orton assisted the hostess in serving the guests.

The tables were centered with white rosebuds. Places for the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Lamar Cox, were marked with white carnation corsages.

The guest list included Misses Caroline and Lamar Cox, sisters of the bride-elect, Mrs. William Butler, Mrs. Mary Gayle Davis, all of Hope; Miss Nannie Jett, Mrs. Max Bishop, Mrs. A. T. Hay, and Mrs. Ed Phillips of Texarkana.

A gift of silver was presented to the honoree.

The wedding will be an event of July 22, at the First Methodist Church in Hope.

POTLUCK AND CARDS ENTERTAINMENT

Summer flowers made pretty decoration for the potluck and cards entertainment at the Hope Country Club on Saturday night,

July 15. After a tasty meal was served buffet style to 16, bridge was played at 4 tables.

Winners were: high for the women, Mrs. K. G. Hamilton, and for the men, Andy Andrews; game prize for the women, Mrs. Lynn Harris, and for the men, Jamie Russell. Hosts were: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Leverett, Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Hamilton, and Mr. and Mrs. Art Trout.

Two Killed in Korean Fighting

SEOUL (AP) — Two South Korean soldiers were killed and a third was wounded today in a brief gunfight with several Communist intruders south of the demilitarized zone, the army reported.

The North Koreans attacked a guard post on the central front about 60 miles northeast of Seoul, the army said. The attackers fled in the dark after a 10-minute exchange of shooting.

North Korean casualties, if any, were not determined, the army added.

It was the 10th serious border clash reported since the eve of President Chung Hee Park's inauguration July 1. At least 15 North Koreans and eight South Koreans have been killed and 17 South Korean soldiers wounded.

Road Is Still Usable

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. KIRKWOOD W. GIBSON

The sanctuary of the First Baptist Church in Hope was the setting Tuesday evening, July 18, for the wedding of Miss Janet Ruth Gunter and Kirkwood Watson Gibson of Dade City, Florida. The Rev. Gerald Trussell, Pastor of the First Baptist Church officiated at the double ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Houston Gunter, Sr. of Hope. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Gibson, Sr. of Dade City, Florida.

The sanctuary was lighted with the soft glow of votive candles. The beauty of the altar was enhanced by an elegant backdrop of greenery flowing gently from the candle-arch to the white satin-covered prie dieu. Each side of the altar was flanked by candelabra holding white gladiolus baskets completed the altar decorations. A garland of greenery adorned the choir rail. Pews for the parents were marked with candles in hurricane lamps.

Preceding the entrance of the wedding party, a program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Dora Ann King, cousin of the bride. Selections included: "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Liebestraum," "Ave Maria," and "Traumerei." Miss King also accompanied Miss Gayle Williams who sang "For You Alone" and "I Love Thee." At the conclusion of the wedding ceremony, Miss Williams sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt on a white satin covered prie dieu for the benediction.

Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the Bride chose for her wedding a floor length gown of Alencon lace over taffeta. The empire bodice, designed with scooped neckline, fell into gathers in a low back neckline. Long sleeves of Alencon lace tapered to a point over her hands. Completing her bridal ensemble was a chapel length train of silk illusion falling with the fullness of a shoulder length veil. She wore the traditional "something old, new, borrowed, blue, with a six pence in her shoe." Her bouquet was of Fleur de Meur centered with a white orchid. Streamers of white satin formed a shower, with love knots falling gracefully.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Elaine Gunter, sister of the bride. She wore a floor length dress of apricot crepe fashioned with a square neckline high in front and dropping in the back. A narrow band set apart the empire bodice which was accented with eggshell lace. A bow of lace covered crepe held a flowing floor-length train. Her tiered veil of illusion was held at each tier by a tiny bow. She carried a cascade of apricot buds and greenery tied with matching satin ribbons.

Bridesmaids were Miss Charlotte Gibson, sister of the groom and Miss Betty Bodenheim of Houston, Tex. Their dresses were identical to the maid of honor.

Little Kristy Kellam was flower girl and wore a white eyelet floor length tent. In her hair she had a circle of flowers and streamers of tiny flowers and ribbon falling down the back.

Lighting candles for the ceremony were Mark Gunter, brother of the bride, and Mike Gunter, cousin of the bride.

David Gibson, Jr. served his brother as best man. Groomsman were Herbert Boltin, Jr. of Dade City, Florida, and Nolin Ward, Jr. of Nacogdoches, Texas.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gunter chose a treasure blue crepe dress suit with matching accessories. Mrs. Gibson wore a white lace dress over beige taffeta. Both mothers wore a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents, were hosts for a reception in the Fellowship Hall adjoining the church. The table was laid with white satin cloth and centered with a tall floral arrangement flanked by white tapers. The silver punch service and the three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature wedding bells were placed at either end of the table.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Nolin Ward, Jr., Nacogdoches, Texas; Mrs. Robert Smith, Bossier City, Louisiana, cousin of the bride; Misses Sara Gordon and Margaret Polk, cousin of the bride, of Hope. Mrs. Jim Gunter registered guests from a table adorned with the Bride's Bouquet. Members of the house party wore white carnation corsages. Apricot and white rice bags were distributed by Miss ses Kay Gunter and Pam Gunter, cousins of the bride. They wore floor length A-line gown of pastel dotted swiss.

For travel the bride chose a lime green collarless designer fashion with a "fly-away" back panel and accessories. At her shoulder she wore the orchid from her bouquet. After a brief wedding trip en route to Virginia, the couple will make their home in Alexandria.

Divers Have to Leave Treasure Ship

LONDON (AP) — British navy divers who believe they have found the 260-year-old wreckage of a British treasure fleet ran out of leave today before they had completed their search for $5.6 million in gold.

The fleet of Adm. Sir Clowdisley Shovel was believed carrying that much bullion and plate from Lisbon when it foundered on its way home after defeating the French navy at Toulon in 1707.

India to Halt Student Plan

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indian government has decided to stop sending high school students for 12-month stays with families in the United States and Communist nations, the United News Agency of India reported Thursday.

The agency quoted education ministry sources as saying the students had derived no significant benefit from the trips and some had returned home with a loss of feeling for Indian culture.

About 100 Indian students had visited the United States each year under Project India.

Military Is Taking Over in Fashions

By LEONORA DODSWORTH

AP Fashion Writer

ROME (AP)—Rome fashions have gone on military maneuvers.

Fabiani was the commanding officer who put soldier styles on parade Monday.

Coats and suits had the stiff, high collars that Napoleon made famous. Shoulders were briskly squared.

Epaulettes were everywhere. Flag red and Prussian blue were the regimental colors he used.

Coats were boxily straight and loose in back. Then there was the modified military tunic, an old Fabiani favorite but less wide this season.

Skirts still looked short although belted raincoats were designed to keep the calves dry.

High crowned fedoras were in plushy felt. British bowler hats were in mink or beaded for evening.

Dresses were so elegantly understated that their only detail was a pair of vertical slit pockets in the skirt.

Schoolboy grey flannel made a divide skirt and shortie jacket, with a shell blouse in lighter grey.

Velvet was promoted to the deluxe class by being threaded with glitter yarns in diagonal checks. Two trouser-suits, one in black and the other in mole-brown velvet, had wide legs and were cut ribcage-high to meet stand-up collar jackets.

LET'S TALK ABOUT MOVIES

By VELDA SEAMANS

Tonite's the last chance to see the double scare show at the Saenger. Incidentally, our air conditioner has been renewed — and is working to keep you cool and comfortable no matter how hot it is outside.

Thursday thru Saturday at the Saenger — that funny, funny, fellow Don Knotts comes to our screen in his second fun show "The Reluctant Astronaut" (remember ghost and Mr. Chicken?) If you like to laugh bring the family to this one — and with it one of the cutest stories you've ever seen called "Lila, the Ram-bunctious Reindeer" — a real Disney Like special we know you'll love!

Many of you have read that Charlie Chaplin returned to films by producing and directing a new picture starring Marlon Brando and Sophia Loren. There's been lots of talk about it — some critics say "it's great" — others say just the opposite. The title is "Countess from Hongkong," and you can judge for yourself Sunday, Monday at the Saenger.

Big things are happening at the Dixie Drive in. For the family Friday and Saturday we have "Way Way Out" the Jerry Lewis fun fest, that adults go for in a big way too. Then with it you'll see "Duel at Diablo" one of the bigger better Westerns — with a big cast. A good program.

If you like the sensational — such as "Undertaker and His Pals" then we've got something for you Sunday at the Dixie with the only showing of "Mondo Bal-lardo". You'll see life in the raw — intimate, shocking scenes of love, all authentic real and true! Don't come to this unless you feel you can take the worst side of life. Also for more scares one of the best of the horror thrillers, "Blood and Black Lace" — wotta show, if you can take it! It's not the kind we like, but it seems everyone else does.

SEPARATE PLANES BUT NO INSURANCE

Dear Helen: I know a family who vacations each year in New York—the only time the husband and wife really have together as both work. Yet they insist on taking separate planes, the wife going in one the husband in another, and each takes one child. They live in Southern California.

But here's the screamer: they don't take out a smidgen of flight insurance! Seems like if they're betting against survival, they'd at least cover their bets... or something.

Is this the smart way to travel?—JONE

Dear Jone: Seems sort of devil-may-care apprehensive, but to each his own. Somehow I'd rather take my chances going down with my family than be the survivor on the "safe" plane, knowing I'd put my husband and child on the "doomed" one. More to the point, if we were this frightened of air travel, we'd vacation by free-way, and NOT in separate cars. —H.

Dear Helen: My husband was killed in an accident five months ago. Our baby will be born this month. I want to send out announcements, but don't know how to sign them. Should I sign just "Mary Doe" or "Mary and John Doe" or "Mary and the late John Doe"?—BEREAVED

Dear Bereaved: When joy at birth is mixed with sadness of a death, personal notes are better than announcements, these perhaps written by a relative, or by you, if you feel up to it. The notes might end with, "John would have been so very proud, and I'm happy that part of him lives in our baby. Sincerely, Mary Doe."

Should you prefer printed announcements, I think "Mary and the late John Doe" is appropriate—with a note of explanation for those who have not heard of the accident.—H.

Dear Helen: On TV, I heard a writer telling about her native Sweden and how most of the sex problems had been solved by the "modern approach." That means sex education all the way through schools, teaching young boys and girls about birth control, and condoning premarital sex and also illegitimate babies. Do you think this is the answer, and that Americans are hopelessly Victorian?—Q.R.

Dear Q: A qualified "No" to both your questions. I'm in favor of sex education at schools, but NOT premarital sex among teens. This overrelaxed attitude toward "love" makes it anything but — unimportant, uninvolved just an experiment... And how about the venereal disease rate in Sweden? It's high and getting higher. Illegitimate babies? Do they all get good homes? Frankly, I know little about the "new" Sweden and would like to hear more—from correspondents who have lived there.

Here in America, we're still more Victorian than we'd like to admit, and so we strive mightily to prove we don't feel guilty about feeling guilty. One of these days we'll hammer out a good moral code to replace the phony values in our lives—and I hope it's soon!—H.

PERSONAL TO "DISCOURAGED": The courage to fail can be the key to success. Every mistake teaches you how to avoid it next time. Use each one as a rung in the ladder, and keep climbing!—H.

K.C. Bars Twins' Bid for Lead

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Jim Nash stumbled over Harmon Killebrew again, but it was Killebrew and the Minnesota Twins who fell flat on their faces and missed another chance to share the American League lead.

Killebrew slammed his 27th homer and fourth off Nash this season, but he and the Twins got their lumps later on a controversial play that insured last-place Kansas City's 5-2 victory over Minnesota Tuesday night.

Nash combined with Jack Aker for a three-hitter, keeping the Twins a game behind the league-leading Chicago White Sox after Minnesota missed a similar chance to pull into a tie Monday.

The White Sox held their lead despite a 6-3 loss to California, which climbed within 3 1/2 games of the Sox.

Boston and Detroit also moved up. The Red Sox closed within 2 1/2 games by beating Baltimore 6-2 behind Jim Lonborg and Earl Wilson pitched the Tigers within 3 1/2 games by stopping Washington 5-2. The New York Yankees were rained out at Cleveland.

In the National League, Cincinnati overcame St. Louis 7-4; the Chicago Cubs hammered Atlanta 9-3; the New York Mets slipped by Houston 4-2; Philadelphia split a doubleheader with Los Angeles, winning 5-0 before losing 2-1, and Pittsburgh won 8-6 before losing 3-2 to San Francisco in a twinbill.

Ken Harrelson had doubled home two unearned runs and scored a third in the first inning, giving Nash a 3-0 lead. But Killebrew, who beat Nash with two homers in one game and homered in another victory over him, closed the deficit to 3-2 with a two-run shot in the fourth inning.

It was 4-2 when the decisive play occurred in the seventh. Killebrew had walked, took second on a balk and tried to score on Tony Oliva's single, but Killebrew missed the plate as he and catcher Phil Ruff collided and Ruff tagged him out. Ruff then threw out Oliva trying for second, completing a strange doubleplay.

"It had to be obstruction by the catcher," said an inflamed Twins' Manager Cal Ermer. "He was 12-15 feet up the line at least and he doesn't have the ball yet."

"I was in the act of catching the ball and that's the way the umpire ruled it," Ruff explained. "He hit my hip as I turned. I think that's what flipped him over the plate. Harmon wasn't mad—he said he knew I wasn't trying to hurt him."

"That's a play you make once a year," said Nash, who suffered a muscle spasm in his right leg striking out the next hitter, and Aker finished up.

Bobby Knoop's two-run single climaxed a four-run first inning off Gary Peters, 11-5, and started the Angels to their 29th victory in 41 games.

Bill Kelo saved rookie Ricky Clark's sixth straight triumph with 3 1/3 innings of relief, yielding only a two-out homer by Walt Williams in the ninth.

Lonborg became the first 13-game winner in the major leagues this season as he halted the Orioles on five hits including Curt Motton's two-run homer, with 11 strikeouts. He also contributed a run-scoring single in a five-run second inning that wrapped the Red Sox' fifth straight victory.

Wilson, who has been criticized for running out of gas in the late innings, hurled his fifth complete game, a five-hitter, and drove in two runs as the Tigers ended a seven-game losing string.

"You go out there and pitch for two hours," Wilson told an inquiring reporter, "and see if you get tired."

Wilson had a two-hit shutout entering the ninth, but had to survive a Washington flurry as he snapped the Senators' eight-game winning streak, their longest since 1949.

Chiefs May Remain in Kansas City

By JOE MOOSHL
CHICAGO (AP) — Charles O. Finley will not seek permission to move the Kansas City Athletics at the major league meetings in August but neither has he closed the door on a possible franchise shift.

Finley met with the Jackson County Sports Authority for nearly two hours Tuesday in a session which was termed "cordial" by both sides.

Dutton Brookfield, spokesman for the sports authority which is building a $43-million sports complex to include separate football and baseball stadiums under a rolling dome, said he was "optimistic" after meeting with Finley.

"We did not ask for a specific commitment from Mr. Finley since this was our first meeting," said Brookfield. "But we are very hopeful we can negotiate a long-term lease to put the A's in our new sports complex."

In addition to the new stadium which will be completed by 1970 only if Kansas City has a baseball team, said Brookfield, there will be ample parking and higher radio and television revenue.

Finley, attempting to spike rumors that a franchise shift is in the making, definitely said he would not ask permission at the August meetings in Chicago to move the club.

The A's present contract at Kansas City Municipal Stadium expires this season but Finley has until Oct. 15 to exercise the first of two four-year options.

"I asked them to put in writing what they mean by a long-term lease," said Finley. "I have asked for their proposals which I will give full consideration until the first of October. Then, if I decide to move, I will present the proposals to the American League in requesting permission to move. I have no assurance such permission would be granted."

Finley is aware of the benefits from a new stadium which can be domed in a matter of minutes in inclement weather. His biggest complaint is the lack of revenue from radio and television rights.

The money from these rights, according to Finley, dropped from $325,000 in 1965 to $57,255, 90 this year on a contract which wasn't negotiated until March 1. However, the 1967 figure has increased to $155,478.50 with additional sponsors.

Ashe Stands Out in Clay Tennis Meet

By KEN HARTNETT
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Arthur Ashe was feeling powerful, Billie Jean King was feeling eager and Lenny Schloss was feeling miserable as the National Clay Court Tennis Tournament moved into its third round today.

Ashe, the nation's highest ranked men's player, polished off India's Jasjit Singh 6-1, 6-2 Tuesday while Mrs. King mowed down Ginger Pfeiffer, Springfield, Ohio, 6-1, 6-1.

"I took a week off after Wimbledon," said Mrs. King, the world's ranked woman's player and top-seeded woman in the tournament. "So now I feel eager again. A week's rest for me is like a month's rest for most people. I feel great."

The Long Beach, Calif., star takes on Marilyn Jane Aschner of Holliswood, N.Y. today while Ashe, the Richmond, Va., athlete seeded first among the men, meets Chile's Patricio Rodriguez, eighth-seeded player in the foreign draw.

"I really turned on the power today," said Ashe, supposedly off form because of Army-imposed breaks in his training routine. "When you feel good and have confidence, you play well." Schloss, who reached the

Reliever Gets Victory as a Starter

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Vulture was ready to glide back to his favorite perch today after a rare distance flight that picked apart the Philadelphia Phillies.

Relief specialist Phil Regan, who earned the "Vulture" tag last season by swooping out of the Los Angeles bullpen for 14 late-inning victories, beat Philadelphia 2-1 Tuesday night in his first start in nearly two years.

"I have no illusion. I still like the bullpen," Regan said after working seven strong innings in his National League debut as a starter. "But this start did me good. It helped me straighten myself out."

It also prevented the Dodgers from folding up after they dropped the two-night doubleheader opener 5-0 to Rick Wise, who scattered four hits for his first major league shutout.

Regan's clutch performance — with an assist from Ron Perranoski in the last two innings — kept the eighth-place Dodgers one game in front of the New York Mets, who trimmed Houston 4-2 and sent the Astros into the cellar.

The Pittsburgh Pirates gave new Manager Danny Murtaugh a winning sendoff with an 8-6 verdict over San Francisco before the Giants came back to take the doubleheader nightcap 3-2. The Chicago Cubs beat Atlanta 9-3 and moved within one game of first-place St. Louis, beaten by Cincinnati 7-4.

In the American League, Kansas City tripped Minnesota 5-2, Detroit downed Washington 5-2, Boston whipped Baltimore 6-2 and California defeated the Chicago White Sox 6-3. The New York Yankees were rained out at Cleveland.

Manager Walter Alston gave Regan his first starting assignment in 96 appearances for the Dodgers after rookie Bill Singer came up with a sore arm. The 30-year-old right-hander, who had been struggling along with a 2-4 record, responded by holding the Phils to five hits and striking out six before giving way to Perranoski.

Len Gabrielson provided the margin of victory with a two-run homer in the second inning. Regan last started for Detroit in September 1965. The Tigers traded him to Los Angeles that winter and he came through with a 14-1 mark in 65 relief stints last year.

New York's Hal Reniff came out of the bullpen in the sixth inning and blanked Houston on two hits the rest of the way, protecting the Mets' two-run edge and extending his scoreless string to 18 innings. He has not yielded a run in nine appearances since the Mets acquired him from the Yankees three weeks ago.

Bud Harrelson stole home in the fifth inning, snapping a 2-2 tie, after Ed Matthews' two-run homer had pulled the Astros even in the top of the fifth.

Murtaugh, who managed Pittsburgh from 1957 through 1964, replaced Harry Walker Tuesday morning, then watched the Pirates erupt for six runs against Juan Marichal in the fifth inning of the first game, with Donn Clendenon's two-run double and a two-run homer by Gene Alley the big blows.

The Giants gained a split when Willie McCovey greeted reliever Billy O'Dell with a two-run homer in the seventh, erasing Pittsburgh's 2-1 lead.

Don Kessinger drove in five runs with two doubles and two singles and right-hander Ferguson Jenkins boosted his pitching mark to 12-7 as the Cubs rolled to their fourth straight victory and snapped Atlanta's four-game winning string.

The Reds buried the Cardinals with a seven-run burst in the seventh inning keyed by Dick Simpson's three-run double. Jim Maloney, lifted for a pinch hitter during the winning rally after being tagged for homers by Roger Maris and Orlando Cepeda, picked up his eighth victory in 13 decisions.

heights of his young career with an upset of second-ranked Clark Graebner in the first round Monday, didn't play anyone today. The 38th ranked Baltimorean was shot down Tuesday by George Seewagen of New York, 6-2, 6-3.

Tuesday's matches followed form for the most part. Defending champion Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., the second seed, downed Stan Pasarell of Puerto Rico, 7-5, 8-6.

Cliff's sister, Nancy, seeking an unprecedented fifth straight clay title, had an easier time, moving down Tammy O'Shaughnessy, Fullerton, Calif., 6-1, 6-1.

Midwest Dairy clinched the Little League championship last night, scoring a smashing win over second place, Sheriff's Dept. in action at K Park.

Leading from the first inning, Midwest rode to an easy 9-2 that eliminated Sheriff's from the title race. Winning pitcher Mike Pinegar carved out a three-hitter while fanning 9 batters.

Once lowly Lions Club rose to new heights in the second game, as they slipped by Hope Auto, 6-5, for their third victory in their last five starts. David Huddleston socked his fifth homer of the year, a two-run shot that capped a four-run uprising in the fifth inning for Hope Auto.

Clinching third place for the season, Barry's Quick Sak stomped slumping Century Bible Class 11-0. Winner Dennis Arnold fired a nifty one-hitter while striking out five for Quick Sak.

Wade Harris of Hope Auto was named to the All-Star team in place of Quick Sak's Buddy Ingram, who sustained a leg injury and will be unable to play.

Denver Hosts 49th PGA Tourney

By BOB MYERS
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The 49th edition of the PGA Golf Championship, which was played for a purse considerably below its $150,000 this year, begins its 72-hole run Thursday with all of America's current favorites in the field.

Some 150 professionals, 48 of them members of the tournament tour, are set to tee off at the Columbine Country Club's par 72 challenge, one that measures 7,436 yards.

Included are Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper, and largely overlooked in pre-tournament speculation, the defending champion, Al Geiberger.

The top money is $25,000 and the least anyone can get if he completes the 72 holes is $300. Natives hope for clear weather throughout the four rounds but all warn that it could rain.

Denver's mile-high altitude has been under scrutiny, a subject which should hardly cause anyone here any loss of sleep. It was even announced that PGA officials were concerned enough to order oxygen tanks installed every four or five holes.

Nicklaus, winner of the U.S. Open last month, has just arrived on the scene after finishing second in the British Open. The PGA is one major tournament Palmer never has won to go along with his U.S. Open, four Masters and two British Open titles.

Palmer's closest was second to Nichols at Columbus, Ohio, in 1964.

Harrelson Sparkplug of Chiefs

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Now that Ken Harrelson has finally stopped thinking of himself as a home run hitter and started bashing out pitches he once ignored, both the Hawk and the Kansas City Athletics are happier.

"It took me seven years to get over thinking about home runs, home runs all the time," Harrelson said. "That second double tonight was outside—it would have been a ball. Heck, before this year I wouldn't even swing at those because I couldn't pull 'em out of the park."

Harrelson smashed two doubles to right, driving in three runs as the A's beat the Minnesota Twins 5-2 Tuesday night behind Jim Nash. His average since he returned to the A's a month ago has climbed 56 points to .241 for his 29 games with the club.

"Man, am I glad to be back in Kansas City and playing for Alvin Dark," Harrelson said. "It was tough trying to play for (Gil) Hodges at Washington. I hit .360 in spring training and led the club in everything. But they got (Mike) Epstein."

Harrelson's hitting has changed and he's different in other ways equally important. No longer does he claim to be the greatest, in baseball, golf, billiards and what have you. He's able to laugh at his former image of himself as another Harmon Killebrew or Rocky Colavito.

"I've learned more the past year than I learned all my life before," the Hawk said. "I'm 25—not young, not old—and I decided to concentrate more on baseball than ever before."

The truth is, Harrelson has excellent right-handed power at 6-2 and 190 pounds and is a good athlete. But he tried to learn to pull the ball before he learned to be a good hitter.

"No, I don't mind platooning with Ramon Webster at first base," he said. "Webster is a heckuva hitter. I'll do anything Dark says. He's got the love and respect of all 25 men on this club—and that's really something."

Patriot Star Consults a Lawyer

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Boston Patriots held their first practice, but the major scrimmage took place off the field.

While 20 rookie and 10 veterans were going through their paces at the American Football League club's camp in Andover, Mass., Tuesday, a verbal scrimmage was shaping up in the office of Mike Holovak, general manager and coach.

The subject was a new contract for fullback Jim Nance, who was not present.

Instead the AFL's Most Valuable Player of 1966 sent his lawyer to the negotiations, about which Holovak said: "You would have to say these were preliminary talks."

Nance is scheduled to report with most of the rest of the club Thursday evening.

While the Patriots were trying to sign Nance, the AFL Kansas City Chiefs still were trying to find tight end Billy Masters, their third draft choice from Louisiana State.

Coach Hank Stram said Masters left camp at Liberty, Mo., Monday night and all efforts to locate him have been fruitless.

Meanwhile, former Green Bay star Paul Hornung, now of the New Orleans Saints of the National Football League, left the Scripps Clinic in La Jolla, Calif., and went to Memorial Baptist Hospital in Houston for further examination of a pinched nerve in his neck.

"Paul has a 50-50 chance to play," Coach Tom Fears said at the Saints training base in San Diego, Calif.

The Saints got some good news when veteran center John Morrow, who played 10 NFL seasons with Los Angeles and Cleveland, signed a contract. He had been a holdout since the club opened training last week.

And a player which Atlanta of the NFL thought it had in the fold turned out to belong to someone else.

Falcon officials announced that it was discovered that former Georgia fullback Frank Lanekewicz still was under contract to Wheeling of the Continental League.

Giant Convict Escapes in Oklahoma

ADA, Okla. (UPI) — A giant prison escapee was the object of a manhunt today in the same area where he allegedly kidnapped six persons two months ago.

Emmett Ray McCarthy, 34, a six-foot-10, 245-pound armed robber, allegedly broke out of the Pontotoc County jail Monday night after holding the jailer at knifepoint. On May 8, he had escaped from the University of Oklahoma Hospital in Oklahoma City and had gone on a 150 mile dash for freedom during which he held hostage or terrorized 16 persons.

Sheriff's officers said McCarthy was last seen on foot in Ada.

"What I fear," said Dist. Atty. Gordon Nelson, "is that he used that knife to catch the first person who came along, and they may be anywhere."

A deputy sheriff said there had been no reports of stolen cars, and the area had been cut off by roadblocks.

Jailer Don Kaiser, 32, said he had let McCarthy out of his cell about 10:30 p.m. to take a shower.

Kaiser said as he opened the cell door, McCarthy pointed a knife at him, forced Kaiser to lie on a bed in the office, and tied his hands.

"This was the one night when I didn't have somebody up here to help me," Kaiser said. "I knew better than to let him out, but I just did."

Kaiser said they went to a men's rest room on the first floor, where McCarthy tied Kaiser to a pipe and escaped through a window.

Last May, McCarthy had been transferred from the McAlester State Penitentiary, where he was serving a 12-year term for armed robbery, to the university hospital for back surgery.

He overpowered his guard at the hospital and went on a six-hour flight that ended at Marietta, Okla., just north of the Texas border.

Authorities said McCarthy has a record of 33 arrests in nine states and had escaped four times previously.

McCarthy was now awaiting trial on six charges of kidnapping. Charges were also pending against McCarthy in Ardmore, Okla., and at McAlester.

University Merger in Hot Dispute

By TOMMY YATES

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Until the legislature decides the matter, opinions about the proposed merger of the University of Arkansas and Little Rock University will be bounced around more than a ping pong ball in a championship match.

Those close to the schools agree that the merger would benefit higher education in the state, although it seems that the alumni and present students lack cultivated opinions one way or another.

The big question, however, seems to be whether Arkansas could financially develop three top-rated universities and not do it at the expense of other colleges.

An undertone of comment seems to be that UA, UALR and Arkansas State University at Jonesboro would become engaged in a battle for funds that would hinder the development of each as a first-class university. A drain on appropriations from the other colleges is also feared.

Many residents at Conway seem strongly against the merger, thinking that their own school, State College of Arkansas, should be the one involved in the merger with LRU since they are only about 30 miles apart.

"I feel this is the wrong thing to do," said one resident. "They want to spend $2.5 million there (at LRU) and that's more than other schools get all year."

E. L. Angell, chairman of the state Commission on Co-ordination of Higher Educational Finance, said that educational finances are currently "pretty tight."

He said, however, that he had no figures relevant to the proposed merger. The commission has launched a $75,000 study of over-all higher educational needs in Central Arkansas that would include a recommendation for the need of any additional institutions if the need existed.

Dr. Carey V. Stabler, president of LRU, and who would remain as chancellor of UALR should the merger be successful, said he foresaw no financial drain at the expense of other schools in the state.

"I don't believe it will affect other colleges in any way," Stabler said. "All schools are improving and growing rapidly and the state is doing well by increasing appropriations."

E. Grainger Williams, chairman of the LRU Board of Trustees, expressed basically the same opinion although he said getting additional funds might be tough. "But, I don't see a battle developing," he said.

Some public officials apparently for the merger are Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, Rep. John Capps of Searcy, Rep. Bill Foster of England and Rep. Jim Harris of Searcy.

"This is another great educational advancement for our area as well as the entire state," Capps said.

"This is one of the greatest things to have happened to educational facilities serving White and Lonoke counties, as well as all of Arkansas," Foster said.

"This holds significant importance now and in years to come," Harris said.

Rockefeller called the merger an "exciting possibility" and said it was "a significant step in higher education in Arkansas."

Sen. Clifton Wade of Fayetteville said he would like to know more about the merger before commenting. He said he saw the need for improvement of higher education in Little Rock but that he was not sure this was the way to do it.

The schools' alumni apparently have failed to make known their views. But this was considered "a good omen" by John Rosso, director of the UA Alumni Association.

"This must mean they are satisfied," Rosso said, "although it may be a little early yet."

A fraternity member at LRU said the merger made little difference to him. He said he had talked to several persons and they felt the same way.

Under the merger, tuition and fees would drop at LRU from about $300 per semester to about $125, the standard charge at state-supported schools. The lower tuition would be the major factor in what is expected to be a great enrollment increase at UALR.

"LRU is now a good college," Stabler said, "but it will take time and a great deal of money to develop it into a complete, outstanding university."

The merger proposition is expected to be submitted to the special legislative session that Rockefeller has announced he will call in January.

While hot arguments stir interest, they also give everybody an excuse for choosing sides and they fill some people with distaste. If a politician can't be liked, at least he doesn't relish being disliked, which is true of Johnson.

Eisenhower had a rather placid presidency but he managed to keep dislike down so much he was elected twice overwhelmingly. Johnson got elected overwhelmingly the first time and is expected to try again in 1968.

His strong point is ability, his weak one is personality. He appeared to forget that in his first two years, if he realized it at all at the time, and couldn't stay away from the television cameras.

There is little doubt the overexposure—part of his deep-rooted desire to be liked—with his unskilled gestures and overdone facial expressions did him harm. His ratings in the public opinion polls dribbled down into the basement.

That the cause of this was his personality, and not anything he did wrong as president, seems clear enough because, while he didn't chalk up any stirring triumphs, he didn't flop into any obvious disasters, either.

And, except for Vietnam and sending troops into the Dominican Republic upheavals, he managed to stay clear of big controversies.

In his very successful Senate years he was always at his best working out solutions with his colleagues behind the scenes, not in his speeches on the Senate floor.

It took him a while to grasp this but he did, beginning late last year, when without explanation he called a halt to his public appearances for a while and thereafter abandoned dramatics for the simple, direct approach in public.

A change occurred in his popularity. Last week the AFL-CIO said a poll of its 13.5 million members showed they greatly favored Johnson's re-election. A separate public opinion poll showed his popularity had shot up.

To some extent this could have been expected after his meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and his nimble-footed avoidance of involvement in the Arab-Israeli war. Yet, in both cases Johnson avoided dramatics.

This was quite different from the sudden surge in President Johnson's popularity after he forced the Soviets to back down in the Cuban missile crisis. That was one of the most dramatic episodes of the century.

As an example of what is meant by Johnson's return to the methods of his Senate days, with little public fireworks and a lot of hard work out of sight: In last year's 43-day strike against major airlines, Johnson, instead of taking drastic action to end the walkout, let it drag on, hoping for a settlement, and then, in the end, tried dramatics with unhappy results.

He got the leaders of both sides to agree to a settlement and then rushed on television to announce it proudly. Shortly afterwards the rank-and-file union members repudiated the settlement, which left embarrassed Johnson holding the bag.

This week he acted swiftly, through Congress, to end the railroad strike and did it in two days. This time he stayed out of sight. What the public will remember is that Johnson did what the public wanted without going on camera to show what a great man he was.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Newark Negroes bury the first of their riot dead today while other New Jersey cities fight flickers of racial trouble. Plainfield authorities hunted a cache of stolen arms.

Newark's night was quiet after nearly a week of bloody battles. A few shots Tuesday night punctured the peace which came to Plainfield after a white policeman had been killed by a Negro gang.

In New Brunswick, six miles from Plainfield, 100 Negroes marched to City Hall where Mayor Patricia Sheehan and Negro Councilman A. I. D. Cooper Jr. urged calm upon them. In Paterson, north of Newark, a few rocks and bottles were thrown and firemen chased false alarms.

In Jersey City and Elizabeth all was normal in areas where sporadic violence burst Monday. In Newark, funerals were scheduled for three of the 23 Negroes shot down during sprays of gunfire from Thursday through Sunday. The funeral of a white fire captain slain by a sniper also is being held. A white policeman was buried Tuesday.

Negro playwright Lerol Jones was among 37 persons indicted Tuesday on charges from Newark's riot. He was released on $25,000 bond on charges of carrying two revolvers.

Seventy indictments now have been returned for carrying concealed weapons and looting. Up to 700 cases are to go to the grand jury.

"The immediate problem is to preserve this calm—this deadly calm," said prosecutor Louis Kaplowitz in Plainfield. He called for residents of the zone sealed off with the help of state police and National Guard forces to turn in any guns they might hold.

He set a noon deadline for return of 36 semiautomatic rifles reported stolen from a munitions factory in nearby Middlesex. Mayor George Hatfield said the rifle crates were found in the riot area.

'Easy Does It' Way of Presidents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Dwight D. Eisenhower, with no political experience when he took office, and President Johnson, who had plenty, worked out for themselves independently a simple technique which paid off.

This, the only thing the two men may have had in common, might be called: Easy does it, or don't make any extra trouble if you can help it.

In private both men have been credited with explosive tempers and tart tongues toward people who annoyed them. Publicly they avoided name-calling, which can turn an opponent into an enemy, and needless arguments which Johnson once described as shouting matches.

While hot arguments stir interest, they also give everybody an excuse for choosing sides and they fill some people with distaste. If a politician can't be liked, at least he doesn't relish being disliked, which is true of Johnson.

Bella Vista in Dispute Over Negro

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Alonza Hodge of Shreveport, La., a Negro who said he won a three-day vacation at Bella Vista Village in Benton County and was denied lodging, has filed a complaint with the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Hodge said he won the vacation after filling out an application at a Shreveport fair. He said his reservation was confirmed, but he said he and his wife were told there were no vacancies when they arrived July 10.

Hodge said he was told he and his family would have to stay at a motel and he said he was given $100 for expenses.

Morton Gitelman of Fayetteville, a member of the Arkansas Advisory Committee to the commission, filed the complaint for Hodge. He said he understood that Hodge kept the $100.

A spokesman at Bella Vista said that the only public accommodation facility at Bella Vista was a restaurant, which serves Negroes. He said all other facilities were operated by a private country club. To belong to the country club, one must buy property at Bella Vista, and to buy property one must belong to the country club, he said.

The spokesman referred all questions to John Mac Smith, Bella Vista attorney, who was reported to be en route to Little Rock this morning and unavailable for comment.

Fatal Shooting Investigated

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — Boone County Prosecutor Bill Doshier withdrew a first-degree murder charge against Arvel Casey Tuesday and asked that the grand jury investigate the shooting death of Arils Joe McNinch, 25, of Harrison.

The fatal shooting occurred Friday night at the home of Casey, 58, McNinch's stepfather. Casey is free on $5,000 bond. The next jury session is set for July 26.

Outsiders Blamed in Jersey Riots

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — An Olympic athlete flew across the country to seek peace in the Negro neighborhood where he grew up and concluded deadly violence there "was agitated from the outside."

After talking Tuesday with young Negro men in the riot district here, Plainfield's Milt Campbell, a Negro, added, "Those men who came in and started this violence have moved out, I believe."

Campbell, now 33, grew up in the Negro section of this suburban city of 50,000 on the fringe of the northern New Jersey metropolitan area. He gained sports fame as winner of a gold medal in the decathlon in the 1956 Olympic games.

He now lives in Toronto, Canada, but flew here from Culver City, Calif., where he was conducting a decathlon clinic when news of rioting in Plainfield reached him.

"This thing happened too damned quick for these people to have organized it," he said in an interview. "They had no organization whatsoever of their own."

Campbell said, "I think, except for negotiations, it's all over."

There are rising complaints the conflict has become almost wholly an American war. There is skepticism about Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's reports of substantial military progress.

There is general acceptance that more U.S. troops will be sent to Asia and that the administration will be back in January for a $4 billion to $6 billion increase in the military budget.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., raised the "American war" issue. Byrd, who wants greater military efforts made to end the conflict, took McNamara to task for saying the United States had not requested its allies to supply more troops.

Byrd, a Senate Armed Services Committee member, said it wasn't enough just to discuss these matters with other nations. He said troop requests should be laid on the line, lest the point be reached where Americans are doing all the fighting.

Laird, who heads the House Republican Conference, said in a statement that U.S. casualties are outrunning those of the South Vietnamese two to one.

President Johnson told a news conference Tuesday that sometimes the Americans lost more men because of the places in which they are fighting. The situation fluctuates, he said.

He added he didn't think anything really is gained "by pointing out that this country or that country lost more yesterday than the one the day before."

Welfare Workers to Get Funds

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A $2.2 million grant was approved for continuation of the state Welfare Department's work experience and training program, it was announced today.

The grant was approved by the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

More than 500 persons will receive training in 17 Arkansas counties under the projects.

Projects financed by the grant are located in Pulaski, Boone, Carroll, Madison, Marion, Newton, Searcy, Franklin, Johnson, Logan, Pope, Scott, Lafayette, Little River, Miller, Pike and Sevier counties.

The program seeks to help needy person acquire or retain the ability to support themselves, said Len Blaylock, state Welfare commissioner.

Wife Sues Mayor of Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The wife of Detroit's 39-year-old Mayor Jerome Cavanagh has sued for separate maintenance and is charged that her husband has forcibly deprived her of the physical custody of four of their eight children.

Mrs. Mary Helen Cavanagh, 37, a former college beauty queen, filed suit Tuesday in Wayne County Circuit Court.

"The children are the main thing," said one of her attorneys.

Mrs. Cavanagh charged that the mayor has refused to return four boys to her custody or let her see them.

In her suit, she also asked that Cavanagh be restrained from molesting her, interfering with her peaceful occupancy of their home, with her use of the family station wagon or from disposing of any assets including rental property owned by the couple.

Details of the suit originally were ordered suppressed at the request of Mrs. Cavanagh, but when word of the action leaked out the suppression was lifted by Judge Charles Farmer.

The mayor's wife asked that Cavanagh pay support for her and the eight children, along with medical and dental bills; and that he not change the beneficiaries on any life insurance policies.

Charging extreme cruelty, Mrs. Cavanagh also said the couple have not lived together as husband and wife since January 1965.

Rumors of marital trouble clouded the primary election campaign when Cavanagh challenged former Gov. C. Mennen Williams unsuccessfully for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate last year. To counteract the reports, Mrs. Cavanagh campaigned with the mayor and appeared on television shows with him.

The Eastern Open Pairs is the oldest contract tournament in the country. It was first played in 1929 and won by George Reithe and a youngster named Oswald Jacoby. Jacoby won it three more times and it was thought that his record of four wins would stand forever because the competition gets tougher every year but this year Boris Raymond of New York also got his name on the trophy for the fourth time.

His partner was a young player named Steve Altman and one reason for their success was good defense. Boris who sat West overcalled with two hearts. He would probably have bid five diamonds also but he was vulnerable against nonvulnerable opponents. A five-diamond bid would have landed him in five hearts doubled and he would have been down two or three.

Boris opened the king of diamonds against the four spade contract and continued with the ten. Someone had the one missing diamond. If East held it he would follow suit. If South held it Boris wanted Steve to ruff and return a club.

Sure enough, Steve ruffed and returned a club but he also returned the right club — the jack!

There is nothing sensational about this play. It is the sort that any careful expert would make automatically but it is also the sort of play that most players overlook.

The basic reason for the play is that this jack lead is a mother's dummy's ten. If Steve had led fourth best or third best or fifth best or sixth best South could have played his five spot. Boris would ruff but declarer would not lose another trick. The jack lead forced declarer to use either his ace or his queen and left Steve with a sure club winner for the setting trick.

Accusing the Wrong Man

Late one night a widow, living alone, heard footsteps approaching her bedroom. While she lay in terrified silence, an intruder entered the room, scooped up her jewelry, and departed.

Feeling sure she had recognized the man as a neighborhood gardener, she filed burglary charges with the police. But at the trial, the gardener produced such an airtight alibi that the jury found him innocent.

At this point he decided to switch from a defendant into a plaintiff. He filed suit against the widow for damages on grounds of "malicious prosecution."

"Since her accusation against me was a mistake," he argued in court, "she ought to pay for calling me a criminal and making me go through the ordeal of a trial."

But the court refused to hold the widow liable. The judge said a person cannot be held responsible for malicious prosecution so long as he had at least "probable cause" for making the original accusation — even if the charge did not stand up in court.

If an accuser does bring charges without having probable cause to believe they are true, then he may indeed be held liable for damages. For example:

One man was held liable for malicious prosecution because he brought unfounded theft charges against a business rival—simply as a means of collecting a debt.

And another man was held liable for malicious prosecution because he brought unfounded trespassing charges against a neighbor—simply as a means of throwing a scare into other possible trespassers.

But as a rule, courts are cautious about imposing liability on an accuser. For if such liability was imposed too freely, people might be discouraged from reporting crimes to the authorities. Even the well-

Kin's Death Removes One From War

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has ruled that any serviceman who loses a relative in Vietnam may be kept out of the war for at least six months.
If the serviceman already is in Vietnam, he may be removed from the war zone for a similar period.
In either case, he must apply for the special treatment in writing himself—his father, mother, or wife cannot.
The language reads this way: "Where a member of a family is killed or dies as a result of Vietnam service, other members of the same family will, on request, either be deferred from assignment to Vietnam for a period of at least six months following date of death or, if serving in Vietnam, be reassigned therefrom for the same minimum period."
The directive does not define "family" and no figures were issued on how many families have more than one member now in Vietnam.
The provision appears in a Defense Department directive establishing uniform policies among the armed services governing assignment of military personnel to Vietnam.

month its 160 members are being organized into a permanent corps of "peace ambassadors."
In Plainfield, three young men, one a Black Muslim, were used Monday night as couriers in a successful effort after three nights of disturbances to negotiate with warring Negro youths. They were the only avenue the city had to the rioters.
In Hartford, Negro clergymen and other leaders skirted official channels and on their own sent young men into last week's riots to help keep things under control. Police Capt. Benjamin Goldstein said he is considering training a more formal corps.
The Negro community has not completely accepted the youth corps idea. In Atlanta, the Dixie Hills Youth Corps, a band organized during last month's racial disturbances by local Negro leaders, was called traitors by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.
The second thoughts in Tampa came after the city hired five of the original White Hats on a permanent basis. In a latter minor outbreak of trouble, the five proved too scattered to be effective, the city said.
Many of the same leaders who praised the White Hats in June now believe five is an inadequate number for cooling off any major outbreak.
Most communities interested in the White Hats idea are using more than five and some are paying their local youth corps.
In Des Moines, where 18 young Negroes work every night from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. moving around the tense Negro area, antipoverty officials are paying them $1.50 to $2 an hour.
Probably the oldest youth patrol is in Los Angeles. But the Community Alert Patrol, a 20-man force based in Watts and established after the 1965 riot, is in trouble.
The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, recently suspended the patrol's funds because Mayor Sam Yorty said he was disturbed the organization was not funded through the city.
Lee Wilkins, patrol assistant director, has vowed the patrol will remain alive. "We'll operate even if the funds are withdrawn permanently," he said. "The community has had a favorable reaction to us and we'll keep going even if we have to take the money out of our own pockets."

Arms Issue Ties Up Loan Bill

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation affecting the Export-Import Bank is pinned down in a crossfire over $2 billion in unpublicized loans for arms purchases by other countries.
Some members of Congress apparently have known for a long time about the government bank's role—greatly expanded in the past two years—as credit department for arms bought by countries approved by the Defense Department. But general disclosure in the past two weeks produced shock waves.
Thirteen Republican members of the House Banking Committee demanded Tuesday that the committee recall a bill it approved to extend the bank's life five years and increase its operating authority by $4.5 billion.
Several Democratic members of the committee, enough perhaps to give the dissenters a majority, have expressed similar sentiments. The administration sought the bill.
The Republicans said they had been given no inkling of the arms financing and complained of a "crisis in confidence."

Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., hit hard at the Republican position Tuesday as giving "great comfort to our Communist enemies."
He said the minority is trying to "gain political advantage out of a critical world situation" and is "inadvertently performing great public relations work for the Soviet Union and Red China." These countries, Patman said, are extensively shipping arms to their allies without even requiring loans.
However, Patman held the bill back Tuesday from the House Rules Committee, which was ready to consider clearing it for House action.
Testimony at a closed meeting of the House Banking Committee Monday reportedly included an estimate that the Defense Department is looking to the bank to finance about $300 million in new arms orders during the year that began July 1, in addition to some past orders such as aircraft for the United Kingdom and Australia.

Conference on 'Black Power' Opens

By LESTER CARSON
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — From moderates through militants, the entire spectrum of Negro leadership will gather for a "black power" conference Thursday in a city still reeling from five days of racial violence.
Sponsors insist, however, that the conference, called to seek cures for some of the chronic ills of the Negro community, will help rather than hurt Newark, where more than half the population is nonwhite.
Dr. Nathan Wright, Newark pastor and conference chairman, said Tuesday the meeting will be "good for the people of Newark." To move it, he said, would be "inflammatory."
He said the selection of the site here had the support of "many business and ministerial groups," despite misgivings of police and Gov. Richard J. Hughes.
Hughes said he could not think of a worse time or place for such a meeting than Newark after the riots which left 25 dead and much of the Negro district a shambles. He asked its leaders to consider moving or delaying it, but they declined.
It remained speculative whether former Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York would attend the conference at the Episcopal Diocesan House.
Dr. Wright said that he has heard nothing from Powell, in self-imposed exile at Elmini, since receiving word 12 days ago from a Powell aide that the Harlem politician would come to Newark. Powell was ousted by the House of Representatives at the start of the current session over handling of committee funds. He was re-elected at a special election but has not tried to take his seat.
Fifteen workshops will be coordinated by major civil rights leaders, but with lesser-known spokesmen permitted full participation.
The workshops will focus on "self-directed efforts" through which Negroes can gain self-esteem and economic stability.
Educators, political leaders, labor leaders, antipoverty staff workers, students, and clergymen will take part in the four-day conference.
Lions often hunt in parties, called "prides," of four or five, or even up to 23.

Israel Gave Air Attack Everything

NEW YORK (AP) — The overwhelming Israeli air offensive which destroyed the Arab air forces June 5 left Israel virtually defenseless, with only four planes remaining behind to guard Israel on the morning of the attack, according to CBS Television.
All but 12 of Israel's planes were in the initial offensive that caught the bulk of Egyptian, Jordanian and Syrian planes on the ground, said retired Army Brig. Gen. S.L.A. Marshall on a Tuesday night television documentary entitled "How Israel Won the War."
Marshall, a military historian, who provided commentary and analysis on the program, said eight of the 12 planes not in the attack took to the air in a defensive maneuver, leaving "exactly four planes as a reserve."
He also said Israel times its attack to catch the United Nations Security Council unaware and thus unable to act swiftly.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Col. Hugh B. Robertson will succeed Col. Frank Volghtmann July 24 as commander of the 43rd Bombardment Wing at Little Rock Air Force Base. The announcement was made Tuesday.
Volghtmann will become commander of the 305th Bombardment Wing at Bunker Hill Air Force Base, Ind. Robertson, a McGee native, has been vice commander of the B58 wing since December 1965. He has 25 years of flying experience.

Redistrict Bill Is in Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another attempt by House and Senate conferees to agree on a congressional redistricting bill appeared to be floundering today on an antigerrymandering provision.
The issue deadlocked the conference Tuesday after the senators and representatives tentatively had agreed to permit a population variance of 35 per cent between the largest and smallest districts in a state for the next five years.
Under the agreement the maximum permissible variation would be 10 per cent starting in 1972.
The question on which the conferees now are hung up is whether an antigerrymandering provision should be written into the law or whether the states should be free to decide if a district's lines are properly drawn.
Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House conferees, said a majority of them backed a strong provision in the law while the Senate conferees favored leaving it to the states.
Celler said another attempt would be made to resolve the dispute. If it fails Senate conferees will go back to the Senate for further instructions.

Arkansan Slain by Texas Police

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Anthony Childs, 54, of Monticello, Ark., was killed here Tuesday after he attacked five officers with a knife and a piece of lumber.
Authorities identified Childs by papers on the body. Police said Childs was accosted by police as he peered into the window of a home. Police said he suffered a fatal blow on the head.
4 Private Clubs Lose Charters
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Circuit Judge William J. Kirby carried through on a petition Tuesday by Prosecutor Richard B. Adkisson and revoked the charters of four private clubs.
The clubs were The Tradewinds Club, The Workingman's Club, The Patio and the Continental Club Castaway Room.
Adkisson's petition said the Continental Club Castaway Room's charter should be revoked because of numerous disturbances, including a fatal shooting. He said the other three clubs had not maintained a registered agent with the secretary of state's office for more than 90 days in accordance with the law.

Politicians Help
the Press —
Out, That Is

Congressional hearings now under way on the so-called "falling newspapers bill" leave working press people cold. Judging from the record of the last several decades whenever federal politicians declare they are going to do something for the newspapers they usually wind up by putting the papers out of business.

In a speech to my fellow Arkansas publishers at the state press convention in Hot Springs last month I remarked that I considered myself to be a lucky guy. Nearly 50 years ago I was a student journalist at Columbia University, but fortunately turned my back on metropolitan journalism, switched to the University of Missouri, and entered the small city paper business.

Fifty years ago there were 20 dailies in New York City. Now they are all gone but three — and 15,000 jobs have vanished. I have been lucky. Most of the good men who gave their lives to metropolitan newspaper work woke up the other day to find the institutions they worked for had sunk — leaving them no place to start over in their old age.

The interests of federal politicians and the security of America's free newspapers are unalterably opposed to one another and any citizen who thinks differently is inviting upon himself political censorship and a government-owned press.

Actually what the Congress does today is of little importance. The real failure lies in the refusal of the federal courts to honor their constitutional obligation to defend the free press stipulation which our forefathers wrote into the charter of American government.

As socialism spread across the nation the courts made no effort to protect the living press, and so, much of it died. Now the federal politicians are studying the remaining newspapers as a "monopoly" — the very monopoly that a socialistic state created and that its judges went along with.

The latest newspaper failure in New York City involved the old Republican house-organ, Herald Tribune, and the flag papers of the nation's two largest newspaper groups, Hearst's Journal-American and Scripps-Howard's World-Telegram. The three had merged, but the merged property lost $700,000 a month for nearly a year and finally quit.

Testifying at the present congressional hearings Jack Howard, of Scripps-Howard, said this week that the owners tried to give the merged property to anyone who would keep it going — and found no takers.

These are economic facts of life.

If I consider government to be the enemy of a free press it is to be presumed I know what I am talking about.

And you will understand that my dedication to the job of making life miserable for federal politicians and bureaucrats is simply the dedication of an alert citizen defending himself and the institution he has given his life to.

Hogan Is Picked by Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said today he had appointed Julian Hogan as director of the state Administration Department.

Hogan has been state budget director since 1933. Rockefeller had said he wanted Clarence E. Frost, a Detroit banker, for the position, and he said today he had asked Frost to accept a position as a full-time consultant in the department.

Rockefeller said his decision was reached after Frost declined to subject the department to a lawsuit and he said Frost preferred this arrangement.

This is apparently the alternative that G. Thomas Eisele, an aide to Rockefeller, mentioned Tuesday to keep Frost from colluding with a residency requirement for the job. Eisele said that the legislature may be asked in a special session in January to erase the residency provision in the law.

Rails Slow to Regain Schedule

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's railroads picked up momentum today as they rolled back toward normal operations. But some lines said full service was still a day or so away.

In the isolated instances where pickets still refused to bow to the congressional back-to-work order, the railroads were seeking relief in the courts.

By Tuesday night picketing had apparently stopped in California, but protest rallies were being planned by some machinists.

Sigmund Arywitz, head of the Los Angeles County Labor Federation, said: "By its action, Congress has substantially diminished our freedoms in this country."

In Cleveland the New York Central waited to see how many men on the morning shift reported after it obtained a restraining order from U.S. District Judge Ben. C. Green to get 1,200 employees at its Collinwood yards back to work.

The Louisville & Nashville reported its trains running again in Kentucky but said it would take a day or two to get back into full operations.

The Southern Railway secured a temporary injunction against the unions in U.S. District Court in Chattanooga Tuesday, claiming irreparable damage to the company and the public.

The Southern claimed the strike was causing damages of $75,000 a day to Southern alone and asked that the unions be required to make it up.

President Johnson Tuesday appointed a five-man panel headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to mediate the wage dispute that resulted in the first nationwide rail strike in 20 years.

Others on the panel will be Fred Kappel, retired president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.; Theodore Kheel, New York labor mediator; Leverett Saltonstall, former Republican senator from Massachusetts; and George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO.

The back-to-work legislation signed Monday by Johnson calls for a government-written settlement if the six shopcraft unions and management are unable to reach agreement in 90 days.

The workers, who now average from $2.94 to $3.05 per hour, were seeking increases of 6.5 per cent this year and 5 per cent next year, plus 12.5 cents per hour each year for higher skilled men.

Church-Going Safer Than Golf: You Won't Get Hit by Lightning

'Lost Continent' of Atlantis Believed Found Near Greece

BOSTON (AP) — The Greek philosopher Plato started the legend of Atlantis with tales of a huge and glittering island continent which sank violently into the Atlantic Ocean 3,500 years ago.

Two Massachusetts scientists said Tuesday they may have discovered Atlantis — not submerged in the Atlantic but buried under tons of volcanic ash on a tiny island in the Aegean Sea near Greece.

The report was made by Dr. James W. Mavor Jr. of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute and Emily Vermuele, a research fellow at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Their nomination for the seat of the Atlantis civilization is the island of Thira about 60 miles north of the island of Crete and southeast of Greece.

Plato wrote of a race of conquerors from Atlantis which almost overran the Mediterranean and finally was defeated by Athens.

Then, in a single day and night, their island home sank into the sea.

2 Killed in Accident on Pike's Peak

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A bus carrying 33 elderly Maryland residents on a cross-country tour careened off the twisting highway on the slopes of 14,110-foot Pike's Peak Tuesday.

Mrs. Lester L. Banks, 65, and Miss Elizabeth Gangler, 63, both of Baltimore, died at the scene. The other 31 passengers and driver Merl Woods, 36, of Denver, were taken to Colorado Springs hospitals.

Woods and seven others were reported in serious condition. Six of the passengers were released Tuesday night shortly after examination and treatment.

The group, in the 26th day of a 30-day trip, left Denver early Tuesday for visits to Colorado scenic attractions. They were to start back to Maryland today.

Police Sgt. Frank Camp said witnesses reported the bus rolled onto a soft shoulder at the right side of the road and tumbled over the embankment, which slopes at about a 45-degree angle. The bus rolled over once coming to a stop on its wheels against pine trees.

Scores of tourists quickly formed a human chain to carry most of the passengers from the wrecked bus to the roadway.

believed that most of Plato's tale was fanciful but that an advanced civilization which gave him his theme did exist and did suffer a sudden and violent end, probably by being buried by a volcanic eruption.

Scientists have speculated, however, that Atlantis was not in the Atlantic but was part of the Minoan civilization which flourished about 1,500 B.C. and had its capital at the palace city of Knossos on Crete.

Following a hunch that the Minoan civilization could have jumped the 60 miles to Thira, Dr. Mavor and Mrs. Vermuele, working with a Greek-American expedition, began digging on the island this year.

They said they found, buried under 30 to 50 feet of volcanic ash, the remains of a city of about 30,000 persons. They said most of the buildings, some two or three stories high, are still intact.

Drs. Vermuele and Mavor said they believe Thira may have been Plato's Atlantis because of the evidence that a very advanced civilization existed there and because it apparently came to a sudden, violent end.

Mrs. Vermuele said the expedition found no human remains and concluded that the inhabitants had a warning about the coming eruption "and got in their boats and left."

'White Hats' End Rioting in Tampa

By ANTHONY J. DE NIGRO
NEW YORK (AP) — Fifty Negro youths wearing white helmets strode into Tampa's rioting Negro section last month in the name of law and order and helped end three nights of terror.

Tampa is having second thoughts about the "White Hats" now but the idea of sending boys and girls, some of them on the city payroll, to do a man's job is spreading almost as fast as are the number of American cities hit by Negro rioting.

At least a dozen cities have either proposed or established a variety of programs, all geared to one aim: Get Negro youths into trouble spots to persuade their neighbors, young or old, to "cool it."

Some city officials even hope they can use the teenagers as a kind of early warning system to head off trouble before it starts.

Tampa's initial success with its White Hats, some of whom had been among the rioters the night before they were drafted to help end the rioting, has been repeated in some fashion in at least three other disturbances in Dayton, Ohio; Hartford, Conn.; and Plainfield, N.J.

In Dayton, the corps of White Hats was so successful last

Guard Sent to Cairo to Quell Riots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Racial violence broke out again in Cairo, Ill., and Gov. Otto Kerner ordered National Guardsmen early today to put down the outbreak.

Sporadic sniping and some hurling of fire bombs was reported by police Tuesday night and early today in the small Midwest town which had racial trouble Sunday night.

The commanding officer of the 50 National Guardsmen, Lt. Jerry Lebo, said his men cordoned off an all-Negro public housing project and would return any sniper fire.

The home of a Negro woman in West Baton Rouge, La., was the target of an explosion late Tuesday night. The blast damaged the lawn and the front of the home of Viola Logan, a retired school principal and an

Anti-Riot Bill Next for Congress

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — While the House considers an anti-riot bill supporters claim will jail traveling trouble-makers, two Cabinet members contend the causes for riots can be found in city conditions.

Opponents of the House measure say it will add new fuel to the seething discontent of Negroes living under conditions cited Tuesday by Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The bill — up for a vote today — would make it a federal crime punishable by up to five years in jail and a $10,000 fine to cross state lines or use interstate facilities to incite a riot.

Its author, Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., says it would put militant Negro leader Stokely Carmichael in jail and bring the FBI into the investigation of riots.

But civil rights groups, labor unions and a handful of House members say it would inflame the tensions that touch off riots and be useless as a weapon to deal with violence.

Despite such opposition, however, the bill is expected to win overwhelming approval. The House adopted a similar measure last year 388 to 25 but it died in the Senate.

Opponents hope to raise questions about the constitutionality and effectiveness of the proposed law in hopes the Senate will amend or defeat it.

Clark told a Senate subcommittee Tuesday there is no way to measure the number of potential trouble spots nor is it "constructive to dwell on this side of the ledger."

But he said "numerous cities have an environmental condition that lends itself to a potential, in varying degrees, for rioting and other civil disturbance activities."

Wirtz told another Senate subcommittee that riots have occurred "as the result of inaction — or worse — lasting for a century."

Wirtz, testifying in favor of President Johnson's $2 billion anti-poverty program request, said he wanted to reject completely "any implication that the riots in Newark occurred because somebody did something or other in connection with these recent programs we have."

5-Cent Stamp Going Way of 5-Cent Cigar

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 5-cent stamp today appeared headed for the same economic graveyard where the nickel beer was buried years ago.

A House Post Office subcommittee was putting the finishing touches on a bill to hike the price of mailing a letter from 5 cents to 6 cents (from 8 to 10 cents for air mail and from 10 cents to 6 cents for postcards).

The increases were requested by President Johnson in the face of an anticipated $1.2 billion Post Office deficit this year. But many of the President's other rate hike proposals have taken a beating in the subcommittee and face further battering when the bill goes to the parent Post Office Committee, probably early next week.

Despite differences with the administration over where the increases should come, the subcommittee was expected to arrive near the $825 million in new revenue sought by the President.

Rep. Robert J. Corbett, Pa., ranking Republican on the Post Office Committee, said after a caucus of GOP committee members Tuesday, "We'll probably still end up with around $800 million." He indicated the total might exceed $825 million.

Mountain View Crash Kills One

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A one-car accident Sunday near Mountain View claimed the life Tuesday of A. B. Pitts of Mountain View, Pitts, 17, died at a Little Rock hospital.

Ancient Timber Plugs Up Old Water Line

City Water Department crews working under direction of Supt. Frank Ramsey ran into this oddity Monday: They were connecting up the new water mains with existing lines at Avenue G and N. Hervey Sts. when they uncovered a piece of vandalism perpetrated 56 years ago. There was this old 4-inch cast iron main they were going to tie into, but first they had to remove the ancient pipe a 2x4 timber.

The line was laid in 1911. Obviously during construction some prankster saw the open pipe one night and shoved the 2x4 well into the tube. Next morning the crews resumed laying pipe — and one section of Hope has been complaining of low water pressure ever since. Supt. Ramsey said the 56-year-old timber was well preserved despite its two-generation immersion in Hope municipal water.

Gets Hot Foot From Auto

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — Adela Kacprzyk befriended a neighbor Tuesday and ended up with her right big toe imprisoned in the tailpipe of a small foreign car.

Firemen freed her from the car and doctors at a hospital freed her toe from a length of exhaust pipe the firemen had left.

It all happened when Mrs. Kacprzyk went outdoors to empty garbage. She noticed her neighbor's car had rolled 300 feet down an alley and had come to rest against a retaining wall. She and the neighbor pushed it away from the wall but the car rolled back and trapped Mrs. Kacprzyk's toe.

Robert now has received all Flight and Ground Instructor Certificates issued by the F.A.A. He, his wife Sandy and daughter Michele live in Ormond Beach, Fla. and Robert is presently employed as Flight Instructor at Embury Riddle Aeronautical Institute at Daytona Beach. He is a 1964 graduate of Hope High.

Another question on the Hope street program: "My property is on the tax books at an assessed evaluation of $1,000 which I consider is 20 percent of the real market value of $5,000. I want to support the city government and get some new paved streets. What will my taxes be if the five-mill tax is added?" Signed, Raymond, Dear Raymond: At present, we have a 54 mill tax, which means $5.40 per $100 of assessed evaluation. Add five mills and you get 59 mills or $5.90 per $100 of assessed evaluation. Your present tax is $54.00. Your additional tax would amount to only $5.00 or a total of $59.00. And Hope would get a $765,000 paving project . . . if the majority vote for it. This is nothing new to Kiwanis, but "the name, Kiwanis, is a manufactured one, meaning roughly 'self expression.' When Kiwanis was founded in Detroit in 1915, it was called 'The Benevolent Order of Brothers.' Shortly afterwards the city historian, when asked to suggest a better name, thought of an Indian expression, rather than a word, 'Nun-kee-wan-nis,' meaning 'we came together' or 'we make a loud noise' was shortened into the word, Kiwanis, and assigned the meaning, self expression." Jet With 78 Aboard Down in Flames

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A Piedmont Airlines Boeing 727 with 78 persons aboard crashed near this mountain city today after colliding in flight with a smaller plane.

A Sheriff's Department spokesman said there appeared to be no survivors.

A sheriff's deputy at the scene said bodies were strewn "all over the area" just off Interstate 26, about 2.5 miles northeast of the city.

Piedmont Airlines confirmed the flaming jet was their flight 22 Atlanta to Roanoke Va. to Washington with 72 passengers and a crew of five.

The FAA said the light plane, a Cessna, was believed missing in the area.

An eyewitness, Grady Walker, said the two planes collided over his house near the Asheville Hendersonville Airport shortly after noon.

The airliner plunged to the ground near the interchange of Interstate 26 and U. S. 64. Witnesses said the bodies were strewn from the highway to the burning plane a quarter of a mile away.

The jetliner is a short range plane with its three engines grouped at the tail. It has a speed of 600 miles an hour and can carry up to 170 passengers. The airlines have been flying it since 1964.

The Federal Aviation Agency's flight control office at Charlotte said the airliner took off from the Hendersonville airport only minutes before the crash was reported.

It said it had been unable to make radio contact with the airliner. It said the airliner was Piedmont's flight 22 which left Asheville only moments before the reported crash.

A witness, K.C. Smart, said a small plane hit the airliner and then burst into flames. The larger aircraft continued on briefly, but then blew up, Smart said. "Debris fell on houses around where I live," he said.

Hendersonville, a summer tourist city, is located in the mountain area of North Carolina.

The deputy said 35 bodies had been counted two hours after the crash. One body went through the roof of a nearby residence.

"There's no possibility of survivors," he said.

Witnesses said the small plane, a Cessna 310, which has two engines, exploded immediately after the collision. The airliner, one witness said, "Continued on in flight as if nothing had happened. Then, all of a sudden, it blew up too."

The airliner crashed near a boy's summer camp. Several boys were playing volleyball a short distance away. None of them was injured.

A spokesman at Piedmont Airlines headquarters in Winston-Salem said the airliner was flight 22, which left Atlanta at 10:40 a.m. bound for Asheville-Hendersonville Airport, Roanoke, Va., and then to Washington. It was due in the nation's capital at 12:57 p.m.

The collision occurred minutes after the airliner left the Asheville-Hendersonville Airport at 11:18 a.m., already late on its flight schedule.

A resident of the crash area, K.C. Smart, saw the collision. He said the light plane burst into flames and went down immediately after the collision. The airliner continued on in flight briefly, then blew up.

A Piedmont spokesman said the airliner carried 73 passengers and a crew of five.

Another witness, C.C. Collins said he was moving his law when he heard an explosion. "There was a blast in the air and then the pieces started falling," he said, "I don't know whether the motor blew up, or there was a terrible amount of smoke."

Collins said he heard another explosion after the airliner left Henderson County Sheriff J. Kilpatrick said every available piece of rescue equipment was every off-duty and reserve officer had been sent to the scene. The State Highway Patrol ordered its entire area force to port for duty.
